Accelerating Global Expansion:

Establishing a strategic Global Capability Center (GCC)
in India for a U.S. SaaS Company

Catalysts of Renaissance

Introduction

A high-growth U.S.-based SaaS company, specializing in AI-driven customer analytics and workflow automation, sought to establish a dedicated engineering and customer success team in India to deliver 24/7 global support. With enterprise clients across the U.S., Europe, and APAC, the company needed to scale its workforce rapidly while maintaining control over quality, compliance, and culture.

“We wanted to move fast, stay compliant, and maintain complete control over quality and culture. India emerged as the ideal destination for its combination of skilled tech talent, scalability, and cost advantage.”

To achieve this, the company partnered with us to leverage its Employer of Record (EOR) model for fast, compliant, and high-quality workforce deployment in India.

The Challenge

The client faced significant barriers that could delay expansion and increase operational risk:

- No legal entity in India: Entity registration and tax setup would take 6–9 months, stalling hiring and delaying market entry
- Complex compliance environment: Navigating India’s multi-tiered labor laws, payroll systems, and statutory filings required local expertise and precision
- Compensation parity & transparency: Aligning salary structures, benefits, and tax deductions with U.S. standards while ensuring Indian compliance was complex
- Talent vetting & integration: The company required a rigorous sourcing and verification process to ensure only qualified, culturally aligned talent joined the team
- Speed to market: The team needed to be operational within weeks

Unlike most EOR providers, we offered integrated end-to-end recruitment including talent sourcing and vetting. A unique capability that became a game-changer for the client. The recruitment and vetting process went beyond traditional staffing support. It included:

- Targeted sourcing of pre-qualified candidates from the SaaS and AI analytics domain.
- Rigorous background and reference checks, ensuring both technical competence and ethical reliability.
- Cultural fit assessments aligned with the client’s U.S. work ethos and collaboration standards.
- This ensured that every hire was not only compliant but also a strategic addition to the client’s long-term vision.

The client appreciated this meticulous recruitment process, noting it as a standout capability compared to other EOR providers.

Project Execution and P.R. GLOLINKS’ Role

A joint steering team was established to operationalize a fully compliant and high-performing India team within weeks. We were responsible for:

- Legal EOR: Acting as the compliant legal employer for all India hires.
- Compliance management: Handling payroll, taxation, and statutory filings (EPF, ESI, Professional Tax).
- Cost transparency: Designing a Total Cost of Employment (TCOE) model for accurate financial forecasting.

- Talent vetting: Executing full-cycle recruitment and background verification.
- HR integration: Delivering benefits parity, onboarding support, and ongoing HR administration.

pipeline, and balanced cost-to-skill ratio, ideal for long-term scalability.

Strategic Approach

1. Market Assessment & Location Selection

P.R. GLOLINKS evaluated major hubs (Bengaluru, Pune, Hyderabad, Chennai) based on talent depth, cost, and retention.

- Recommendation: Chennai was chosen for its exceptional stability, strong IT and SaaS talent

2. EOR and Compliance Setup

Implemented compliant offer letters, registered employees for statutory taxes (EPF, ESI), integrated payroll, and drafted IP assignment clauses aligned with U.S. policies.

3. HR and Cultural Alignment

Deployed automated payroll, managed monthly tax filings, and ensured benefits parity (health coverage, learning budgets) matching U.S. standards. Joint onboarding sessions were held to integrate the U.S. and Indian teams, fostering cultural alignment.
